EVIDENCE

Shown on 6-inch map of Northumberland, New series Sheet n56 SW as 'Old Drifts 1921 Survey. Verified by field walking.

DESCRIPTION

The mouth of the adit is close to the Hollinhead Burn. It appears to be blocked a short distance inside. It has been reported that this was a trial for lead (cf A0486) but the BGS map (Ref. 1.) shows the outcrop of the Highgreen (Fourlaws) Coal at this point and it seems more likely that it was driven for coal.
